

BUSHIDO

Passion for Fashion

When something as grand as the F1 finds its way to Bahrain's circuit, it is only expected of the Kingdom's most unique venue to come up with something equally amazing.

The return of Formula One was the calling for Bushido to deliver a one-of-a-kind event to an international crowd, the numerous celebrities and Bahrain's nightlife loyalists. For an event of such a large scale it is a given that the after race party will be a blast of a bigger proportion.

Following the massive success of FTV parties last year, Bushido wants to surprise you again by taking FTV nights to the next level in respect to the music, set up and entertainment quotient. Featuring silky smooth house music tunes, party anthems and the trendiest contemporary tunes, 2012's FTV international party will outdo anything the brand has done in the past.

On April 22, the Japanese lounge-restaurant hosts two-time Grammy award nominee, DJ Poet Name Life of Black Eyed Peas. Apart from being a performing DJ, this super producer contributes to songwriting in Light up the Night, the single from their latest album The Beginning. Additionally, Poet is the co-producer of chart-topping hit Boom Boom Pow.

If you're a fortunate group of party animals, you might have the chance to hear a few new mixes from his much-anticipated debut album.

Gone are the days when one performer would do the trick.

Australian live vocalist Simone Cooper puts her voice on full throttle on this night. Having started in the R&B/soul scene and having transitioned to dance music and various styles of house, Simone's vocal versatility is inimitable.

She is, thus, classed as one of house music's best freestyle vocalist worldwide, performing alongside some of the industry's heavyweights in the world's most elite venues. Are you ready to witness her dynamism, energy and charisma?

There always is more

Two top models from the Prague agency, Elite add spice to an already sizzling evening. It's also not a party unless you've got people dancing till their shoes wear off. Leading the way are dancers from Paris's very own Pure Star Management, who offer the best talent in Europe to the most elite clients around the world.

Add two more live musicians and you've got an after race party like never before. While one of the most talented French saxophonists JP Sax adds a jazzy twist to the evening, percussionist George Safi makes sure the music never stops.
